Enhance the Value of Your Technology Investment with Collaborative Solutions and Cognizant

With the pace of change in technology, our clients continue to seek more flexible and unique approaches to solving their business challenges. Today's ideas and solutions may not fit tomorrow, and the legacy consulting model is no longer needed and often does not apply. The implementation of Workday solutions represents a significant change for any organisation. It serves as a catalyst for the realignment of strategy, processes, people, and technology to improve efficiency, save money, and provide a foundation that can easily adapt to future directions and requirements.

Having the right partner who understands the intricacies of Workday, the unique requirements of your organisation, and the overall impact of regulatory forces can be the difference between an effort that truly maximizes value versus simply completing the task. Our value proposition is being able to lead a Workday customer through advisory, planning and implementation, and post-production services, delivering a full range of consulting services to help you achieve your business goals.

Provided below is a high-level overview of the key Workday services that Collaborative offers, in addition to our deployment services for Workday Financial Management and Workday Human Capital Management.

“ We have valued from having a CVS agreement for staff augmentation and integration development. This has allowed my team to remain more focused on day-to-day tasks and have an expert to help when they have stumbled. This has broadened my team’s understanding and skills in supporting the system.”

– Kari Lancaster, HRIS Manager, Conagra Brands
